

The start of a new year is always a perfect time to redecorate homes in Boise ID. By incorporating a few of the latest design trends, you can make your home feel fresher than ever. Here are 5 trends to try in 2021:

1. Soothing colors. We all want our homes to be places where we can relax and feel comfortable. The most impactful way to do this is with the right paint colors. Warm neutral colors and earth tones are naturally soothing. Cold grays are becoming less popular in favor of shades with yellow or orange-red undertones. If you prefer cooler colors, try shades of blue, which evoke the sky and fresh water.
2. Natural materials. Bare wood, basketry, sisal and rattan have been making a comeback for the past few years. This year they will still be popular across a wide range of décor styles.
3. Traditional styles. Accenting your home with a few real or faux antiques can evoke a feeling of nostalgia. This year we predict more people will bring touches of Art Deco, Victorian and cottage styles into their homes.
4. Easy care materials. With people spending more time at home lately, easy-to-clean surfaces are in demand. Try vinyl plank flooring, glass-topped tables and washable slipcovers for low-maintenance living.
5. More defined living spaces. Families are finding it convenient to have separate spaces when everyone is home together. Flex rooms for remote work and learning can be closed off for privacy and noise control.
