A quick drive will take you to places where you can go hiking, skiing, horseback riding, climbing, kayaking, and more. Residents of the area have a high level of participation in outdoor activities, so if that's your jam, you should easily find like-minded friends!

This particular region of Idaho also offers a strong job market. Unemployment is lower here than the nationwide average. A fast-growing tech industry will create more professional-level career opportunities.

Eagle High School ranks 10th out of the 52 high schools in Idaho. It is also rated 10/10 on GreatSchools.org and placed in the top 20% of statewide standardized test results in 2018.
